Dear Dr Al-Shahi Salman

Many thanks for meeting with me last week and providing information about the work of the SIVMS project. We are fully supportive of efforts made by the clinical community in establishing robust, well governed and ethical systems that allow and encourage regular review of patient care and outcomes and it would seem that the SIVMS is an example of this. We would be most keen to be kept informed of your progress and receive any regular reports you make available. We are also pleased that you are willing to potentially contribute to the work we are currently pursuing in relation to volume and outcomes of care and our project lead will be getting in touch with you with regard to this.

Thank you once again for bringing the work of SIVMS to our attention and we look forward to hearing from you in the future.

Yours sincerely,
